Karen Morrow

*Benefits Specialist
Human Resources Department*

In your nomination, the following were highlighted:

- You are the contact for support of medical benefits handling many inquiries from various employees from all corners of the District;
- You answer multiple, repetitive questions with patience and respect to the specific needs of employees;
- You are consistently sympathetic, knowing how frustrating it can be for employees and their families to maneuver through the benefits process – especially during difficult times that they may be experiencing; and
- You are a professional who shows empathy and true concern for those you assist.

All of the above are examples of ways that you show you care. Your work supports our District belief that people have a responsibility to themselves and others, that family is the cornerstone of society, and that trust promotes creative problem solving.

You are an asset to Human Resources and the District a whole.
