We Build Futures

October 12, 2020

Dear Maple Point Families,

Thank you for supporting your child(ren) during our first week of Hybrid Instruction. Our first week was positive with students showing success working in-person at school as well as live streaming at home. Each day the procedures and routines became more familiar and easier to navigate for both students and staff.

To continue the success and provide additional support to our students, After School Help is available for students beginning today. At this time, Math and Science After School Help sessions will be available from 3:15-4:15 PM Monday through Thursday. Students can join the virtual session at any time during the hour to ask for help, ask clarifying questions, and/or review of content. We are working to offer English Language Arts (ELA), Social Studies, and Fifth Grade Help sessions in the coming weeks for Maple Point Students. Information will be released as it becomes available.

After School Help sessions will be virtual using the Zoom links listed below:

We encourage all students (Hybrid and Plan D Opt Out) to access the After School Help sessions. The sessions will provide students with another way to receive support each day to ensure they are successful with their courses during the Hybrid Instructional Model.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the additional support, please do not hesitate to contact me at any time. Thank you for your continued support.

Thank you,
